MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief, National Intelligence Council
FROM: Director of Central Intelligence
SUBJECT: Center for the Study of the Presidency's
1982 Harry J. Sievers Memorial Lecture - 17 November 1982

I appreciate your undertaking the Sievers Memorial Lecture for me the day after tomorrow.

I had dictated these remarks on the plane returning from Europe without realizing there was a theme through the 1982 lectures -- "American Economic and Foreign Policy". I think the firmness and conciliation note is good and that you might want to play down the military and political aspects and replace them by dealing with our hopes for the Shultz package, a hope for relationship between arms control and economic development and the opportunity to ease the inherent economic pressures on the new Soviet leadership by agreed arms reduction and the consequent chance to reallocate resources to solving economic problems.

William J. Casey
